LOUISVILLE, KY.—THURSDAY . . . SEPTEMBER 1, 1850.

Reading Matter on Every Page.

Political Items.
It is said that the vote of New York, at the Charlton Convention, will be cast as a unit for Daniel S. Dickinson.

The New Jersey Democratic State Convention recommended Hon. W. C. Alexander as a suitable candidate for the Vice Presidency in 1860. This indicates that the New Jersey Democracy concedes the nomination for the Presidency to the South. Mr. Alexander is a gentleman of distinguished ability, and his selection would be a tower of strength to our ticket.

Mr. Buchanan is said to be in favor of the nomination of Gen. Joe Lane for the Presidency. The nomination of Gen. Lane would certainly be acceptable to the Democracy. His popularity in the Northwest is unbound, and his nomination would be almost equivalent to an election.

Gen. Dodge is the Democratic candidate for Governor of Iowa. He is making a vigorous and energetic canvass, and should he be elected, would prove a formidable competitor for the Charleston nomination.

Emerson Etheridge, Opposition of Tennessee, seems to be the most prominent candidate now spoken of for the speakership of the next national House of Representatives. We understand that Mr. Etheridge has not yet determined to allow the use of his name in connection with the office.

The statement going the rounds of the press to the effect that the Democracy of old Berk, in Pennsylvania, are for Douglas, is formally contradicted by the Philadelphia Pennsylvaniaian. The story that the Democracy of that county selected Douglas delegates to the State Convention is pronounced a canard.

The Wisconsin Democratic State Convention, which met last week at Madison, passed resolutions endorsing the Administration of James Buchanan.

Hou. John C. Breckinridge, Linn Boyd and Judge James W. Moore, are spoken of as candidates for the United States Senate in place of Hon. J. Crittenden, whose term of office expires in March, 1861.

It is said that Roger A. Pryor, formerly editor of the Washington States, will be elected to Congress from the Petersburg (Virginia) District.

Since the recent election in Texas, the name of Gen Sam Houston has been mentioned prominently in connection with the Presidency. To be able to carry one's own State seems now to be the chief requisite for a Presidential aspirant. In this regard Houston is ahead of a good many others.

It is thought that the Southern Opposition members of Congress will not support Tom Corwin for the next Speaker. They say that their action in regard to the election of Bowles lost them thousands of votes in the South, and that if they cannot get a Southern Opposition Speaker, they will vote for a conservative, anti-slavery sovereign Democrat. This is a good resolution, and we hope they will adhere to it.

The Kentucky State Democratic Convention will assemble in Frankfort next January. From present indications the convention will, with singular unanimity, present the name of Hon. Jas. Gathrie as their first choice for the Presidency, and instruct the delegates from this State to cast their votes for him at the Charleston Convention.

The States of California, Pennsylvania, Indiana, New Jersey, and Oregon, will probably send unbroken anti-Douglas delegations to Charleston—So, also, will the entire South.

The Chicago Herald regards Douglas' "copyrighted" communication in Harper as a bid for Black Republican votes, and considers that he will be a formidable competitor against Seward next year for the Republican nomination. A correspondent of the New York Tribune suggests that Douglas would be a good Black Republican candidate, "if he could only be trusted." "He can't be trusted"—there's the rub.

Louisville Manufactures.

EDGE TOOLS AND PLANES.
In the manufacture of edge tools there is one person engaged, who is so widely known, and whose work is so highly admired, that a notice of his establishment can add nothing to his popularity. Antoine Briseval is engaged in manufacturing scissars, cutters, and quarners' tools, and articles of hardware, which we are told that their importers cannot begin to compete with the local manufactured articles turned out in this establishment. Mr. Briseval has numerous and large orders ahead, in theilling of which he has six hands constantly employed. He manufactures drills, chisels, slugs, and lighter edged hammers, and a superior article of stone made.

His factory will be found in the alley east of Third, between Market and Jefferson.

There are three houses engaged in making planes, in which an annual business of $15,000 is transacted. They make all sizes and a superior quality of carpenters' and cooper's planes, for all of which they find a ready sale to local carpenters. Their work has been entered for competition with the prison-manufactured work, and has obtained a popularity which it is likely to hold. Eastern planers have been, and is still, largely imported here, and is for sale by all the large hardware houses; but carpenters and cooper's prefer the city manufactured work, on account of the superior wood of which the planes are made. The beech wood, which abounds in large quantities in the adjacent forests, furnishes a material which they lack in the East. Large quantities of this wood is shipped to the East, and very little returned in the shape for which it is intended. We do not wish to detract from the merit of Eastern planes, and only state what mechanics have told us, that our readers may draw a comparison between the home and foreign manufacturers. In the manufacture of the two important tools named at the head of this article, Louisville cannot be surpassed in regard to quality. Is the respect of quantity there is sufficient room for the establishment of other factories, and the demand to be supplied is unsatiable and immense. The two factories of Messrs. W. L. Empson and T. H. Atkinson are on a small scale, and the large hydraulic foundry of A. McBride, though turning out numberless planes, is entirely incompetent to supply the demand which exists for them. The factory of A. McBride is about ten miles from the city, where a large tract of beech timber lands, he saws the wood which his tracts produces, and makes the splendid planes which he sells to the city trade.

They are in the employ of the plane makers about twenty hands, and the capital invested in this particular branch, is to use an indefinite phrase we have found to imply that manufacturers did not wish to state the amount—considerable.

The plane makers are: Atkinson, Thos. II.—Third, between Market and Jefferson.

Empson, Wm. L.—Floyd, between Green and Lafayette.

McBride, A.—Third, between Main and Market.

YELLOW FEV. & NEW ORLEANS.—Several persons who are engaged in business here, Tuesday, report the prevalence of the yellow fever at New Orleans. They say it had been declared epidemic by the Board of Health.

On the contrary, the New Orleans papers of Monday assure us that no such case of the disease has occurred in the city, and the unusual good health that has prevailed during the summer, continues.

We are disposed to give credence to the stories of the need of extra care in travel, and perhaps frightened travelers. At all events, there is not the slightest cause for alarm.

The season is now so far advanced, that if the malady does appear at the South, it could make but little progress before it would be arrested by frost.

New COURTESY.—The Memphis Enquirer of the day.

A new five dollar note was passed upon one of our citizens yesterday, which purported to be an issue of the Citizens' Bank of New Orleans. The vignette was finely engraved, and represented the arms of the State. The counterfeiter can be detected by noticing the name of the cashier, which is, I believe, E. Roseau.

SACRUM OF MURK.—Our friend, Richard Robison, Esq., of Gerrard, sold a few days ago 56 bushels of maize, at $10 per bushel. There were a No. 1 bushel, 10 bushels, 1 bushel, 1 bushel, and 2 bushels, of Williamson County, Tennessee, were the purchasers.—See, Obs. and Rep., 21st.

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Dispatch to the Charleston Gazette.]
Breckinridge not a Candidate for the Presidency—
The Douglas Manifesto, etc.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald says:

Judge Black has received a letter from Vice President Breckinridge, deprecating any use whatever in the nomination for the Presidency. He prefers a recent elected legislator in the Senate, to which the recently elected legislature of Kentucky will elect him, as the successor of Mr. Crittenton, whom he expects to be chosen.

Attorney-General hunting for the Administration, whose preferences are now said to lie between Lane and Houston.

The Douglas faction has thrown the Republicans into great confusion. It is bold, if not successful attempt, to appropriate all that is popular in their bigger houses, leaving them only Seward's irre sistible conflict. On the other hand, the Democrats and Douglassians in the South, now necessitate the nomination of a Southerner at Charleston—perhaps Houston, who, under the circumstances, appears the strongest.

His friends, who, of course, are excited, call him "the great Exponent," "successor to Webster," "unanswerable reason," and all that, were much gratified at the prohibition of publication in the newspaper press by the Harper.

His friends, who are equally anxious, that it would have saved him a great deal of anxiety, Seward's friends are in the greatest anxiety about the fusion of the Americans and Republicans in your State, (New York.) If he cannot unite them, he will be a tower of strength to our ticket.

Mr. Buchanan is said to be in favor of the nomination of Gen. Joe Lane for the Presidency. The nomination of Gen. Lane would certainly be acceptable to the Democracy. His popularity in the Northwest is unbound, and his nomination would be almost equivalent to an election.

The Ohio River was falling rapidly yesterday, with 3 feet 5 inches water in the canal by the park, in the evening. During the previous 24 hours the river had receded 3 inches and the head of the falls. The water continued clear and rapid. The falls were in full session.

At Pittsburg yesterday there was but 25 inches water in the channel, and the river is reported falling at all points that port, and but few boats are now above Cincinnati.

The Uncle Tom, bound south, went over the falls, yesterday, in fine style. She was under the guidance of Capt. J. H. Hamilton, pilot who reports 2 inches water on the falls. The Uncle Tom can no passengers from here, as her crew were all engaged.

The Mobile Register records the death, on Sunday week, of Capt. J. B. Walker, one of the oldest steamboat captains in the State at the time of his death, having command of a boat on the Mississippi.

The John Bell, from Cairo, did not arrive in time yesterday to take the mail, and has been laid over until to day. She goes through to Cairo, and will place this evening, from Portland, in charge of Capt. Dougherty.

Mr. E. F. S. Sase, Emma and Macley, are all due from home.

The following is the list of boats inspected at the Custom House since the 1st of September, 1858.

John V. Varble, all of which will be completed in two months.

The Castle Garden from Saint Louis yesterday, discharged a heavy cargo of pig lead and hemp. She is an ancient craft, and it is said she is to ply between Cincinnati and Evansville.

The Cairo, S. S., also with Masonic river rights, weighed in the city yesterday, going West.

The Portsmouth, for Nashville, did not get off till yesterday. She took the Cairo mail.

We endorsed yesterday to say that Capt. Seward no expectation of taking charge of one of our large boats.

One of our exchanges puts forth the following item of news:

An arrangement has been made whereby the swift & press'd James Steamer, the steamer Louisville and Cincinnati, will run on the Louisville and New Orleans Packet Line, during the approaching season. Of course we will make weekly trips. Her adm'r will be Mr. G. W. Thompson.

For CAMB, COLUMBS, AND MEMPHIS.—The splendid light drawn summer packet, S. P. Hibb, will be at the city wharf this morning in trip to New Orleans. She has been engaged in the navigation of the Mississippi, and reported, in addition to which, she has been refitted and returned in the most comfortable manner for the summer campaign.

The John Bell is in charge of the accomplished Captain J. H. Archer, who gained a well-earned reputation for the boats of the man, by his attentions and courtesies to passengers and shipmates. She is the Herald equally popular. She starts from New Orleans, and will connect with the Ohio and Mobile Railroad, at Columbus, steaming passengers through to Memphis.

Girl Brown.—A girl only 5 years old, the daughter of a German deck passenger on the boat, died at the Franklin, Tuesday evening, on her trip to this country.

Jones Varnie Brown.—Despatches were received from Evansville yesterday, stating that John V. Varble, of this city, had taken over board the steamer John V. Varble, of the Falls season was $7,880 logs, added to which was the product of 12,000 logs slaughtered at Shadewater and purchased here, also a large portion of the product of St. Louis, Upper Mississippi, and portions of Illinois, amounting to 115,000 logs. The slaughter of Nashville, Clarksville, Tenessee, Landing, Owensboro, Bowling Green, and other points was controlled here, making us double the receipts of logs, and the price per cord was at $45.00.

The field of Wheat has been secured to be at least a full acre, and Corn promises to be very abundant, and with a good yield of Corn, the Hog crop will naturally increase. The crop of last season was the largest ever grown, and it is anticipated that the present crop will go to nearly four millions of bushels, which will be greater than ever. This has an influence upon our staple—hemp and hemp material. The crop of Hemp, it is thought, will turn out to be larger than ever, and the market for Hemp is to be a great source of wealth.
